ATTACK.

On the evening of June 5th, 1912 Rev. O. T. Hendley, of the Citiis cashier of the Bank at Pine Knot, attacked in his office and knocked senseless by a beer bottle in the hands of P. M. Kennedy, of Calleo this county.

> It seems that Mr. Headley had never met the man and had never heard of him before. Kennedy came into his office and pretended that he wished to subscribe to his newspaper and Mr. Headley had commenced the writing of his name and address but before he had finished doing this, Kennedy struck him on the side of the head with a beer bottle and felled him to the floor unconscious. There was no other person in the office at the time and Mr. Headley did not know anything for quite a while, but when consciousness returned he staggered to his nearby residence, where his wife and little children were, and the alarm was given of the coward-Soon a large crowd gath ered near the scene, and officer Chaffin did good service in arrest ing the guilty man at once and confined him in the city lockup.

Kennedy was arraigned unable to appear at the trial, the prisoner waived examination, and their Pastor, B. S. Akers. was put under a $1,000 bond. Having failed to give this bond in the city of Matewan, Mr. Greenway Hacfield, a brother of the Republican candidate for Governor, was at last appealed to, and went on the bond of Kennedy, After Kennedy had been released under bond he proceeded to abuse Mr. James Craw ford for having refused to go on his bond, when Crawford, so 't is said, gave him an unmerciful beat--Williamson West Virginian.

Ad, Mercer county, is the shortest amed postoffice in the state, and Columbia Sulphur Springs, Greenbrier county, containing twenty-two letters is the longest, Little Swell Mountain and White Sulphur Springs, both also in Greenbrier county, are the next longest names.

Evidently some localities were hard put to it to find names for their offices as will be noted from the following list of outlandish and unusual names. Boone county has a Bald Knob and an Anchor; Braxton a Bulltown, Gip and a Wildcat, and Hope, Home, Progress and Stop; Cabeli has Saltrock and a Raccoon; Calhoun a Joker; Clay, Big Otter, Duck and a Yankeedam; Doddridge, Bigbattle, Joy and Coldwater: Faya Raven's Eye; Greenbrier has a Cornstalk, Trout and Sunlight, Jackson has a Frozencamp and Skull Run; Kanawba has an Angel, a Dial and a Derrick; Lincoln has a Cowhide, Mud and Sod; Logan a Panther, a Longpole and Squirejim.
